Write a Song
Jump-start your budding musician with the tools to create music. Miss Joanie arrives again this summer with her unique ability to teach rhythm, rhyme and song arrangement in a way that will have your kids humming along at home all afternoon.

Paint like Michelangelo
Sculpture by Edgar Degas, poppy fields by Monet, color study by Kandinsky, oils by O'Keefe, block prints by Hokusai and pastels by Paul Klee are just some of the surprises Ms. Penny brings to our burgeoning artisan.

Prepare a Meal
Sights and sounds of the kitchen should be fun and exciting. Each meal is an exercise in science (mixing), math (measuring) and instruction (follow the recipe). There is no better way to get kids eating healthy than to involve them in the entire process. You will be amazed at what they can learn.

Be a Mad Scientist
Lab coat included. Perform some outrageous experiments with our friends from Mad Science and learn the natural properties of the world around us. Dr. Frankenstein would be proud.

Rescue a Princess
Fight a dragon. Storm the castle. Swab the deck (we may skip that one). Make sure to get your favorite suit of armor dry cleaned and be ready to experience first hand some of the greatest fairy tales ever told. Pirates and Princesses, tales of the open sea and buried treasure. Even Capt. Jack Sparrow has already signed up for this one.
